

A partnership that works for you

Colonial Life is proud to be the preferred voluntary benefit solutions provider of the International Public Management Association for Human Resources (IPMA-HR).

As the world's leading public sector human resource management organization, IPMA-HR works to help relieve the administrative challenges of managing an employee benefits program with competitively hiring and retaining quality employees.

We understand that offering voluntary benefits shouldn't add to your workload. This is why our voluntary benefits product strategies, benefits counseling and enrollment services help address a number of pressing HR concerns, while creating time and financial savings.

We can make your job easier with:

- Thorough benefits communication

Our customized communications help your employees understand their benefit options and make informed decisions. From group meetings and customized websites, to 1-to-1 consultations, we help increase both participation and employee satisfaction.

- End-to-end enrollment solutions

Integrating with a wide range of software, our core and voluntary benefits enrollment systems complement services such as perpetual enrollment, carrier feeds and more. We'll even review your employees' eligibility and verify dependents.

- Online administrative services

Accurately importing employee deductions, and managing billing and account information, our intuitive tools streamline account administration. We also offer cost-free access to daily news, tips and research on the HRAnswersNow® website.

We know benefits

We understand the public sector. Talk with us today about our IPMA-HR partnership and how we can put our proven benefit solutions to work for you.

ColonialLife.com